NOTICE.

Preserve each number carefully until the end of the year. You can then have them bound in half leather, substantial binding, for $1.00. The numbers must not be cut or mutilated if you desire to have them bound.

OUR BOW FOR 1887.

It is now a well established fact that man produces nothing that is perfect in the beginning, and the REVIEW is no exception to the rule. We have labored hard to make the first number what you see, but we have learned enough to make many improvements in future, and shall not say fail until we have succeeded in making it a complete record of important events that may transpire throughout the County. To this end we ask the co-operation of all who may appreciate our efforts in this direction. The value of the work as a reference book can scarcely be estimated, and we think we can safely guarantee that those who become subscribers will appreciate the work more the longer they take it. With these few remarks we enter upon the work before us, feeling that we shall have the support of all the good citizens of Delaware County.

Respectfully,

A. C. STODER.

CENTER TOWNSHIP.*BUSINESS CHANGES.—CITY OF MUNCIE.

NOTE. [It will be observed that our reports of some of the townships are meager. This is because we have not yet been able to secure a reporter in these townships. We hope to have them supplied before the next issue.] Ed.

The following business changes took place during the month in Muncie.

January 12,—George H. Andrews sold the Star Drug Store to the Star Drug Company, L. E. Winchester, Manager.

MISCELLANEOUS.*NATURAL GAS AT EATON.

The wide awake citizens of the enterprising little town of Eaton in Union Township, having noticed that natural gas was being discovered all around them, determined to sink a well near the place as an experiment in that direction. Accordingly the matter took practical shape and a well was sunk just across the river from town near the railroad. The work progressed rapidly, until in the latter part of September 1886, a vein of gas was struck. After the well was put in proper shape, it was found to be one of the strongest in the State. Preparations were at once made to utilize the gas, and at this writing, this pushing little town is almost entirely supplied with light and heat from this well. This well was the first sunk in the County and furnished a stimulus to Muncie people to do likewise.

MUNCIE'S NATURAL GAS.

Early in September last, after the discovery of natural gas at Eaton, a few of the leading citizens of Muncie determined to see what could be done in that direct in this city. Accordingly Mr. S. P. Brundage, W. L. Lacy, C. B. Templer and others, started with a subscription paper to raise a sufficient sum to prosecute the work. We might here remark that this was the second attempt and it was the discovery at Eaton that caused these gentlemen to make renewed efforts. It did not take long to secure the proper subscription of $2,500 after the discovery at Eaton, and as a consequence the first meeting of the stockholders was held on the evening of September 23, 1886. This meeting resulted in the election of five directors to assume the management of affairs, incorporate the company under the State laws and elect officers from their number. The following were the directors chosen: A. L. Kerwood, W. L. Lacy, S. P. Brundage, T. H. Kirby, and E. P. Smith. This completed the organization of the Muncie Exploring Co. The company consisting of the five directors together with the subscribers to the capital stock. We do not consider the record complete without a list of the names of those who were the pioneers in this great work. These persons who had nerve to put their money into a hole in the ground for the benefit of Muncie and all her citizens. Had it not been for them, natural gas might have been a thing of the distant future, so far as Muncie is concerned. Below is the names of the subscribers to the original capital stock of $2,500, which money sunk the first well.

On October 6, 1886, a contract was entered into between the Muncie Exploring Co. and R. M. Decker & Co. of Washington Co., Ohio. The contract provided for drilling a well near the river immediately east of the city: 1200 feet deep at a cost of $1,650. The work began at once and proceeded rapidly night and day, until the morning of November 11, 1886, when Mr. Decker reported to the directors that gas had been struck at a depth of 888 feet. Preparations were at once made to test its burning qualities, and at 10 minutes before 12 o'clock on the above date, the first natural gas flame in Muncie shot upward. The gas was abundant and of an excellent quality. The flow of gas however was materially increased, by shooting the well a few days later, which was done by exploding 40 quarts of Nitro-glycerine at the bottom. The well was cleared out, packed and put in proper shape, and is now furnishing fuel for more than 100 stoves and some furnaces.

The capital stock of the Muncie Exploring co. being about exhausted, a new company to be known as the Muncie Natural Gas Co., was organized with an increase of capital, which company still exists with a perfect organization.

A few days later the new company began a well on the north side near the Ft. W. C. & L. Railroad. Work progressed on this well until it was abandoned at a depth of 1540 feet, finding only a good quantity of artesian water and but little gas.

On December 28, 1886, Messrs Highland and Kuhn, of the Muncie Coal Gas Co., began a well near their gas works. On January 14, 1887, they struck a strong flow of gas at a depth of 898 feet. This well was so strong that pieces of stone were blown from the bottom of the well to the top of the derrick.

On January 17, 1887, these gentlemen began a well near the Muncie water works building, which also gives a good supply at a depth of 907 feet.

Thus it is that Muncie is abundantly supplied with this bountiful gift of nature. Fuel for heating can be furnished at almost nothing, and no town in the Union is better equipped to offer inducements to the manufacturer or the merchant, or in fact the representative of any honorable business than Muncie. Her citizens are unanimous in extending the invitation to all who seek a location where shipping facilities are good, and where fuel can be had at a price scarcely to be considered.

Other developments in this new discovery will be reported in the Review from time to time as they occur.

HOG CHOLERA.

Owing to a lack of time in preparing our report, we are not able to give the loss to the county from Hog Cholera during the month of January. We substitute, however, the total loss to the State for the year 1886. In round numbers it amounts to $3,000,000. There being 12 months in the year this would give an average of $25,000 per month. Also there are 92 counties in the State which give an average of $32,68.64 to each county for the year 1886.

January 8. The first natural gas explosion occurred in the Hummel Block, Muncie. Damage slight. Result of carelessness.

January 14.—At 3 o'clock this morning Messrs. Highland and Kuhn struck a strong flow of gas in their well near the gas works in Muncie.

January 24.—Mr. George Hawk, living 3 miles east of Muncie, sold his personal property at public auction.
